NOTES on Virtual sessions

In the unlikely event of having too many takers for a session preference will be given to those members selecting the session on the QSITE survey .

Virtual sessions will use GoToMeeting software. GoToMeeting allows the presenter to connect to up to 16 participants. Participants simply click on an email invitation, allow a small Java install and then they are in the session. Telephone or computer VOIP can be used for audio. The presenter can share his/her screen as well as throw mouse control or screen share to other participants.

You will receive an email invitation 5 minutes before the event using the email you respond with (unless otherwise indicated).
